WHYY CELEBRATES 25 YEARS OF RADIO TIMES AND *FRESH AIR

PHILADELPHIA, May 16, 2012 — WHYY will host a special event on Monday, June 4, at the Suzanne Roberts Theatre in Center City Philadelphia in honor of the silver anniversaries of the award-winning radio programs Fresh Air with Terry Gross and Radio Times with Marty Moss-Coane. The event will feature the two hosts as they are interviewed by WHYY's Dave Davies, who has served as guest host on both shows.

The interviews will create a role reversal for Gross and Moss-Coane, both of whom are more accustomed to asking questions than answering them. Their skills as radio personalities and interviewers have rocketed both flagship radio programs to national success. Fresh Air, which is internationally broadcast and reaches about 5 million listeners weekly on NPR stations across the country, features open conversations on contemporary arts and issues and is one of radio's most popular programs. Radio Times provides thought-provoking issues to listeners in the Delaware Valley as well as throughout the nation on the Sirius-XM Channel NPR Now 122.

The historic night will begin with a VIP reception at 5:30 p.m., which will be attended by Gross, Moss-Coane, Davies and other WHYY radio personalities. Doors open for general admission at 6:30 p.m. The program will begin at 7 p.m. Audience members will enjoy an opportunity to ask questions during the final half-hour, starting at 8 p.m. The Suzanne Roberts Theatre is located at 480 S. Broad St.

All are welcome to attend the event, whose proceeds will benefit WHYY. Admission for members is $20 and $45 for the VIP reception as well as the interview program. Admission for nonmembers is $30 and $55 for the VIP reception and interview program. Register at WHYY.org/memberexperience.
