Radio Times Goes on the Road with Marty Moss-Coane
With four of Philadelphia's most transformative local chefs at the famous Reading Terminal Market

PHILADELPHIA, (March 8, 2016) —Four of Philadelphia area's most innovative local chefs will join WHYY host Marty Moss-Coane to talk about Philadelphia as a foodie destination at Reading Terminal Market on Wednesday, March 30 from 7 to 9 p.m. The public is invited to attend and ask questions at the event which will be recorded for broadcast on Radio Times.

Moss-Coane will talk to Aliza Green, a pioneer of farm-to-table cooking; Michael Pasquarello, contributing to the bar-meets-restaurant movement; Keven Parker, of the Soul Food Café; and Ellen Yin, of the popular Fork restaurant. The event is sure to spark taste buds and celebrate four chefs making Philadelphia a hub for world class, delicious food.

"Radio Times is one of the most respected weekday programs in the Delaware Valley, and Marty is one of the most thought-provoking and balanced radio hosts," said Bill Marrazzo, WHYY president and CEO. "Marty is an expert in engaging and guiding informative discussions. It's a great opportunity to talk about two of my favorite things – Philadelphia and food. I am sure people will walk away more informed about our city's world class dining, in addition to being very hungry to say the least."

Tickets start at only $20 for WHYY members. Non-members may purchase two tickets for $90, ($20 a ticket) and receive a one-year membership to WHYY (value of $50). For more information and to register, visit WHYY.org/events or call 215-351-0511 during regular business hours.
